In May of 2018 we achieved TripAdvisor Hall of Fame Status. This honor is given to businesses that have received a Certificate of Excellence for five consecutive years indicating they consistently deliver great service. Certificates of Excellence are given to businesses across the world that maintain an overall TripAdvisor rating of at least four out of five stars. This designation is presented to approximately 10% of total businesses on TripAdvisor.

For the commemoration of the 350th anniversary of the Turner-Ingersoll Mansion, The Gables was selected for the cover image of the Destination Salem Visitor Guide. This included having a unique limited edition print created by local artist Elissa Von Letkemann.

With many of these awards and recognitions, we have also received numerous citations from seven elected officials commemorating the 350th anniversary of the mansion. We extend our appreciation to Senator Ed Markey, Senator Elizabeth Warren, Rep. Seth Moulton, Gov. Charlie Baker, Senator Joan Lovely, Rep. Paul Tucker, and Mayor Kim Driscoll for their recognition.

Just a few weeks ago we were selected for Northshore Magazine’s Readers Choice Award for the best Tourist Attraction.

We personally feel very proud to be a part of an organization that is committed to making a difference in our community. This pride swells when the organization receives recognition for our work. These accolades were received because of the work done by our dedicated staff and volunteers – work we could not do without the support of you, our members and friends. We hope you all feel as proud as we do for the part you played in making The House of the Seven Gables Settlement Association worthy of the recognitions we have received.

7 Lessons Learned From Caribbean Connections

We have recently completed the 2018 Caribbean Connection program, where 22 students from diverse backgrounds learned about the great connection of the Caribbean and Salem through the Transatlantic Trade. In addition to learning the trade routes, the different commodities, and how slavery was a major part of this trade, we were reminded of many lessons through stories and our exploration of several historic sites.

• The phrase “we don’t know where we’re going, unless we know where we come from” was very present throughout this program. History can be very exciting when we can see ourselves reflected in it and how it has shaped our ‘today’.

• The staff were able to connect to their inner child through adventure and exploration of places like Baker’s Island, the Yin Yu Tang House at the Peabody Essex Museum and The House of the Seven Gables.

• Stories and books provide us the opportunity to travel and transcend borders and time periods. During our visit to the Salem Public Library, seven students received library cards for the first time and all walked away with a free book to bring home.

• Fully immersive activities engage the brain and also our hands and hearts. Students became entranced while building the traditional Dominican Faceless dolls, celebrating the diverse people of the Caribbean.

• Music and dance remain a universal language to help us understand history and connect to other cultures. Through drumming lessons and African songs with Mamadou, the students were able to make a connection to the African cultural influence in the Caribbean.

• During our visit to the Lowell Industrial Center and its Immigrant Exhibit, we were reminded how immigration has been present throughout all of history and that everyone has an immigration story to share.

• Finally, we are all interconnected, and we share more similarities than what makes us different. This was evident during a visit with students from China, where both groups ceased to need translation upon finding the common language of video games.

Taste of The Gables will take place on Sunday, September 16 at 3:50 PM (of course!) with Don Kelley returning as the Master of Ceremonies.

7 Things You Might Not Know About The Gables

1. We have a current guide at The Gables who has been here 33 consecutive seasons since 1985.

2. The House of the Seven Gables has recently installed a new roof on the mansion. Our friends from NAPCO installed more than 40,000 cedar shingles. Our Executive Director even installed a few!

3. The owner of the Joshua Phippen House (1782-1785) was a "cooper" by profession. A cooper is a craftsman who makes barrels, tubs, and other vessels from wooden staves and metal hoops.

4. The Gables can now proudly present its own permanent "Little Free Library." Recently built by our staff carpenter, Brian Payne, it is located at the top of the brick pathway by our trolley stop. Little Free Library is a non-profit that inspires a love of reading, builds community, and sparks creativity by fostering neighborhood book exchanges around the world.

5. In the 1915-1916 Annual Report of The House of the Seven Gables Settlement Association, there is a section on "Nationality." The nationalities represented in The Gables Settlement programs at that time were Irish-American, Polish (German, Austrian and Russian), French, French-Canadian, Russian, Scotch, Italian, Greek, Syrian, and African. The report mentions the Derby Street neighborhood as being largely Polish.

6. This photo, the earliest known photograph of The House of the Seven Gables was taken between 1857 and 1860. It shows a young Horse Chestnut tree and its many sections on the bottom right of the picture. That tree still stands today!

7. We have two current staff members who have officiated weddings at The Gables. A few years ago, one of them officiated for a fellow guide at the compass rose behind the Hooper-Hathaway House (1682).
